

ELATION SHOWN
BY BARTHOU AS
ON HIS RETURN

French Leader Pleased
Over Result of Conference in Paris.

GERMANY INVOLVED

Nations Not Willing to Bring About Collapse of Meeting

Genoa, May 6.—Plainly elated over the success of his home visit Louis Barthou, head of the French delegation to the international economic conference arrived here today from Paris. The French leader evidently had no fears that the fresh instructions he brought back with him would wreck the conference. His face was wreathed in smiles as he shook hands with newspaper correspondents and conference delegates at the station. He went immediately to the Savoy hotel to confer with his colleagues, leaving word that he would see Premier Lloyd George of England later in the day.

German intervention to bring Russia to terms is regarded in some circles as the first step toward a triple entente involving Russia, Britain and Germany—a consummation which France has feared for a long time.

Premier Lloyd George's action in entering into a tacit "bargain" with Germany is believed to have been directed against the possibility of concerted action by M. Barthou and Premier Poincare of France against Great Britain.

It is understood that the Russians are now ready to give their answer to the allied statement of conditions for recognition of the Moscow government and that they will express their readiness to continue negotiations.

This emphasizes the fact that while some of the nations are ready to bring the conference to the breaking point, none is willing to bring about the actual collapse.

RUSSIAN MINISTER
DENIES CHARGES

Washington, May 6.—Boris Bakhmeteff, so-called Russian ambassador to the United States, made emphatic denials here today he had misappropriated any part of the $187,000,000 loaned to him by the American government during the war.

The ambassador's reply to Senator Borah of Idaho, who assailed him in a recent speech in the senate and demanded his appearance before a committee investigating the presence of General Semenov in this country, was made in a letter to Secretary of State Hughes, which was transmitted to the senate this afternoon.

HENRY P. DAVISON,
BANKER, DIES TODAY

New York, May 6.—Henry P. Davison, famous banker and member of J. P. Morgan and company died this afternoon during an operation for a brain tumor. He died on the operating table.

The operation was being conducted at Mr. Davison's home at Glen Cove, Long Island. J. P. Morgan and other friends of the ill man were present. Davison had been assured by the surgeons that the operation was not serious and they did not anticipate any complications.

ARMY AND NAVY PAY TO GO BACK ON PEACE SCHEDULE

Appropriation Bills Held up Pending Revision of Existing Pay—Back to $15 a Month is Plan With Increases and Special Allowances.

Washington, May 6.—The army and navy appropriation bills, carrying a joint total of $520,000,000 for financing the national defense in the next fiscal year, were laid aside in the senate today to await congressional revision of existing naval and military pay standards.

Administration leaders declared to-day that neither bill would be brought out of its respective committee until the so-called "pay revision" measure had passed both houses of congress.

This unexpected delay in providing future finances for the army and navy was caused by provisions enacted by the house into both appropriation bills which based pay allowances on the $15 a month schedules existing prior to the world war.

The pay bill which will reduce compensation to soldiers, sailors, marines, coast guards and in the public health service from a war basis to peace standards, is before both houses of congress backed by favorable committee reports. Administration leaders intend to call it up for passage in the house next week.

The army and navy appropriation bills, it was stated, both contained pay estimates which would give private in the army and "gobs" in the navy only $15 a month instead of the $30 a month paid them since America's entrance into the world war. The $30 provision, it was explained, expires on June 30 this year and congress has enacted no legislation to extend the higher pay.

The pay bill, while decreasing war time pay schedules will grant a 20 percent increase to enlisted men over the standards prevailing prior to the war. The $30 "lowest pay" as it exists now will be reduced to $21 a month minimum, which is a $6 increase over pre-war standards. The enlisted man, however, will be greatly benefited by "special and technical allowances," which range from $5 to $60 a month additional. The full range for enlisted men will be from $21 to $157.50 a month for those longest in service.

The pay allowances for officers will not be changed materially except as to benefit married men and officers with families. The total range for officers will be from $1,500 for the lowest rank to $13,500 a year for a full general.

Conditions better say officials of business outlook. Washington, May 6.—From three high government officials, Secretary of Commerce, Hoover, Secretary of Labor Davis and Comptroller of the Currency Crissinger, came strong assurances today that the industrial skies of the country are beginning to brighten—business is getting better, factories are picking up, building is booming, unemployment is decreasing, credit is easier and general conditions are more rosy all around.

The general improvement in business conditions extends from industries clear down to farms, according to optimistic surveys completed by these three officials. In general, the reports find:

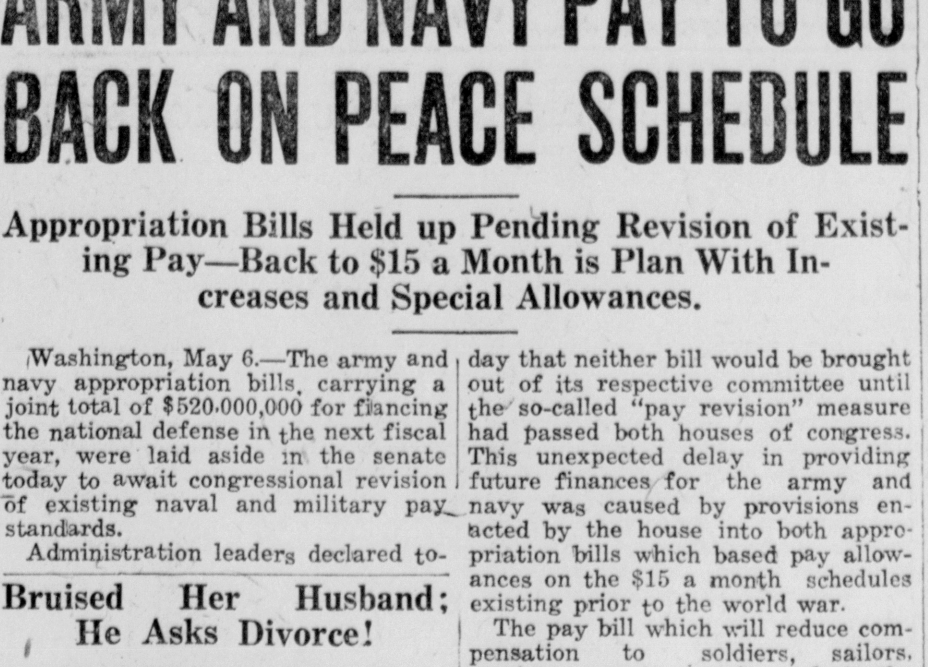

1.—Secretary Hoover—Unemployment is rapidly decreasing and in some sections measures for relief adopted in the winter have now been dispensed with entirely.

2.—Secretary Davis—There is a widespread industrial awakening from coast to coast, with only a few "dark spots" farming conditions are encouraging, and building is booming over the country.

3.—Comptroller Crissinger—Reports from twelve chief national bank examiners, embracing all federal reserve districts, show without exception that business, agricultural and credit conditions are rapidly becoming better.

The reports indicate that the spring boom in building has been the greatest single factor in improving conditions, both in the matter of providing jobs for the jobless and in making credit easier.

All of the reports ignore the national coal strike, which is keeping hundreds of thousands of men idle all over the country.

Secretary Davis' survey, made public today, said: "There is a widespread industrial awakening. There are a few dark spots where there is considerable unemployment such as in Louisiana, in large shipbuilding centers—also in New York City, San Francisco and Chicago. However, the extensive building program in New York, will absorb all building trades mechanics. Chicago is engaged in a building program, but is considerably handicapped by reason of the Landis award, which has not been accepted. Never the less, conditions are improving rapidly."

M'CUMBER TARIFF BILL FIERCELY ATTACKED
BY FINANCE SENATE COMMITTEE MEMBER

North Carolina Democratic Leader Assails Measure as Breeder of Increased Taxation and Extortionate Prices and Return of Profiteering.

Washington, May 6.—Increased taxation, extortionate prices, sky-high profits—the return of the profiteers and profiteering of the world war—will follow the enactment of the M'Cumber tariff bill, Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, ranking Democratic member of the senate finance committee charged in the senate today in a minority report.

Simmons predicted that the "unheard of impositions" of the bill would impose between $3,000,000,000 and $4,000,000,000 a year upon the American people for "benefit, relatively speaking of a mere handful who fear they cannot maintain their present high prices and profits, and still further swell them at will, unless the people are further taxed, not for the benefit of the treasury but for the benefit of their own private pocket books."

The veteran Democratic leader fore into the pending tariff measure as one that would "place the American people completely at the mercy of the greed and avarice of monopolistic and profiteering interests" who he declared, had dictated to the Republican majority of the senate how the bill should be written.

When the Fordney tariff bill passed the house, the house regarded it as a monstrous go grotesque and absurd that it was taken more as a joke than as a serious attempt at tariff revision," Simmons said. "It did not excite the people to any great degree of alarm because they felt

MOVEMENT STARTED TO KILL PROBE OF WAR FRAUDS

Johnson-Woodruff Resolution Object of Attack in the House.

Washington, May 6.—A quiet but organized movement is on today among Republican members of the house to kill the Johnson-Woodruff resolution for a special investigation of war contract frauds and failure of Attorney General Daugherty to institute prosecutions against the guilty.

The resolution has received a favorable report from the house rules committee. It was given privileged status and can be called up for passage by the house at any time by Chairman Campbell of the rules committee. Pressur, has been brought on Campbell to delay action.

Republican leader, Mondell and the Resolution steering committee have fixed business for the house for days in advance, taking up every hour of time without making an allowance for consideration of the Johnson-Woodruff resolution.

Mondell stated today that he had given the resolution no place on his working calendar. He indicated he would not make immediate provision of it. Other Republican leaders are hostile to the resolution. They said no special congressional committee to make such an investigation was asked by the ex-service men of the house but either one of five standing committees can make the investigation under present powers—the military affairs committee, the judiciary committee, the rules committee and war committee on expenditures in the war department and in the department of justice.

The ex-service men insist on a special committee for the investigation. They want some of their members appointed to this committee—in fact, they want to dominate the committee but their success is doubtful.

House Republican leaders have told their colleagues that the administration does not want the investigation although Attorney General Daugherty and Secretary Weeks notified the rules committee of their indifferent attitude concerning the matter. The favorable report from the rules committee on the resolution was made possible by support from the Democratic members, the favorable vote being six to five.

Influential Republicans like Fess of Ohio, Snell of New York, Rodenberg, Illinois, Kreider of Pennsylvania and Dale of Vermont, voted against the resolution and special investigation. They were surprised and disconcerted when deserted by Chairman Campbell and the Republican cloakroom has been filled since with bitter condemnation of Campbell. The Democratic members are supporting the investigation resolution for whatever political capital they may be able to obtain from the Republican party split.

GOVERNOR OF MANCHURIA SAID FLEEING ON JAPANESE GUNBOAT FOLLOWING DEFEAT

Shanghai, May 6.—General Chang Tso-Lin, military governor of Manchuria and ally of the republic of South China, whose army has been defeated by the forces of General Wu Pei Fu, was reported today to be in flight upon a Japanese gunboat from Taku.

Disorders similar to those during the boxer uprising when foreign armies had to intervene are feared in the Tien-Tsin region as an aftermath of the war.

British military observers at Loafa reported that large bodies of defeated Fengtien troops (formerly part of Chang's army) were pushing through that district towards Tien Tsin, bent upon looting. They were firing indiscriminately, even at their own troop trains.

American, British and French military authorities at Tien-Tsin have begun a co-operative movement for the protection of foreign lives and property. Extra forces of marines have arrived.

CHARGE OF MURDER
LODGED AGAINST
STORE PROPRIETOR

Covington Man Held On Charge Following Shooting.

Covington, Ky., May 6.—A charge of murder was placed this morning against Joseph Jansen, proprietor of a soft drink establishment at Pike and Russell streets, who shot and killed Chris Donnelly, 36 years old, Friday night, after Donnelly fired two shots at him and robbed the cash drawer of the establishment.

Donnelly, who was known as a drug addict, entered Jansen's establishment and demanded "money quick." Customers laughed at him when he flourished a gun and gave him a few bills. Jansen entered shortly after and Donnelly after holding the proprietor of the establishment at bay with a revolver, looted the cash drawer and started to back out of the door.

Jansen grabbed for a gun in a drawer behind the bar. Donnelly was quicker on the draw and fired two shots at Jansen. Both shots went into Jansen. Both shots went wild and the owner of the store returned the fire. One of his bullets lodged in the gun wilder's side.

Donnelly died an hour later. Jansen surrendered to the police and was released on a $5,000 bond.

ENGAGEMENT NOT BROKEN SAYS OSER

Zurich, May 6.—Major Max Oser's nuptial engagement to 16-year-old Mathilde McCormick of Chicago, granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller has not been broken off, but on the contrary, Oser is busily engaged in preparing their future home, which will be a virtually isolated love nest in the Alps, according to information secured today from Oser's lawyer.

Oser has been absent from Zurich about a fortnight, traveling about in a motor car. His fiancée has now turned somewhat to automobile driving from horseback riding, having been for many years a breeder of blooded horses.

"The engagement has not been broken off," said Oser's lawyer when shown a copy of cablegrams which had been published in the United States. "Quite the contrary is the case. Oser has been very busy for two weeks preparing for the nuptials. I expect him to return to Zurich next week. Just what word he has received from Miss McCormick I do not know. Of course that is the affair of his own heart."

WILL ALWAYS WORRY
DECLARES MOTHER

New York, May 6.—"A mother always worries. I shall always worry because Carl shot a man, but the jury was so good to send him back to me."

Thus did Mrs. Margaret Veith, 65, today voice her eternal sorrow over the fact that her son, Carl Veith, shot William Doyle, after Doyle had attacked her and taken $4 from her home and also her thanks that a jury of 12 men recognized a new "unwritten law" and acquitted him of the act which assistant District Attorney Brothers characterized as "cold blooded and premeditated murder."

USE OF SLOGAN
IN ADVERTISING
PROVEST VALUE

Philadelphia, it appears is a city of advertising slogans from the "City of Penn." to a coal company who uses the slogan "We Deliver a Square Ton."

Then there is "The School That Makes Good" or "In Philadelphia Nearly Everybody Reads the Bulletin." Then also there is "The Man of Letters" and "For Wood Go to Wood" while an undertaker says "A Step in the Right Direction."

There's a shoe shop that says "Tis a Feet to Fit Feet," while a storage house concern states "Our Motto. Keep Moving." An installment house uses the line "Buy of Stern—Pay As You Earn."

In fact practically all advertisers use slogans and these especially have been very successful. Perhaps a good slogan DOES—pay.

The Spring Institute of the Greene County Unions of the W. C. T. U., will be held May 16, at the Second United Presbyterian Church, this city, it is announced.

PEGGY JOYCE WILL SAIL FOR AMERICA

Paris, May 6.—Ill and dispirited over the notoriety brought upon her name by the recent suicide of "Billy" Erzuriz, her South American lover, Peggy Hopkins Joyce, former American chorus girl, and four times married, left Paris today for Cherbourg to sail upon the liner Mauretania.

Ever since young Erzuriz killed himself last Sunday because Peggy failed to requite his love, the American girl has been the center of a whirlwind of rumors. The climax came when her mother sent her an urgent cablegram quoting certain American newspapers as saying that she (Peggy) had taken an overdose of a drug and was dying.

Peggy was motoring with Henri Letellier, "the richest man in Paris," when the news came. When she saw the cablegram, Peggy went into hysterics and screamed to Letellier: "Get me a ticket on the first ship going to the United States."

POLICE ATTEMPTING TO IDENTIFY GUNMEN

Canton, O., May 6.—Who is the bandit, killed in the famous "battle of Oberlin's woods"? Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Canton police would like to know. One thing is certain he is not William Mitchell, as was believed yesterday. Mrs. J. E. Mitchell, of Cleveland, sister of Eddie Stevens, one of the bandits who died yesterday from wounds, came to Canton last night and after viewing the body, said it was not Mitchell, her brother in law. Mrs. Mitchell took the body of Stevens back to Cleveland with her today.

The identity of one of the wounded bandits, who gave his name as Harry Harper of Buffalo, during a few minutes of consciousness, was completely established this morning by chief of Detectives Robert H. Braun of Allegheny county, Pa. This wounded bandit is "Andy" Kapler of Pittsburgh, who has a criminal record dating back to 1909. He is under indictment in Pittsburgh for murder and bank robbery in connection with the affair at Crafon, Pa., in January 1922. Records show that he escaped from the Ohio Penitentiary in September 1918. A large reward is standing for his capture. Kapler is still unconscious today and hospital officials say he will hardly survive the day. Since Kapler has been permanently identified police are now seeking to more fully identify the other wounded bandit, supposed to be George Brainer. They believe he is also one of a notorious gang of crooks, probably wanted in a dozen large cities. Harper is also in a critical condition and not expected to live.

Farm Life in Greene County

MANY OFFSHOOTS FROM GREENE COUNTY FARM BUREAU ARE EFFECTED

List of Branch Organizations Which are Linked up to Parent Association Show Activities of Bureau and Prove Beneficial to Farmer.

When The Miami Valley Cooperative Milk Producers' Association was organized recently by the Farm Bureau, in ten counties including Greene, it marked another milestone in the really big achievements of the Bureau and added one more strong organization to the list of co-operative associations that are children of the parent association, the Greene County Farm Bureau.

A list of these branch organizations, organized under the auspices of the Farm Bureau, is carried on the stationery of the parent organization, and represents the results of the spirit of cooperation that has been inspired in members. This list includes the Sheep and Wool Growers' Association; The Big Type Poland China Association; The Shorthorn Association; The Spotted Poland China Association; The Duroc Jersey Association and The Greene County Live Stock Shipping Co. To this list will be added The Miami Valley Cooperative Milk Producers' Association, which is yet in its infancy.

The Greene County Milk Producers' Association was organized to pool the sale of dairy products in ten counties including Greene, Montgomery, Clark, Miami, Preble, Champaign, Logan, Drake and part of Clinton and Shelby. It is a cooperative bargaining association and will not manufacture butter or distribute milk, but will sell only to the manufacturer or the distributor. More than half of the milk producers and dairymen in Greene County are already affiliated with the association, and it is expected that this membership will grow to almost 100 percent.

The Greene County Live Stock Shipping Association is another brain child of the Farm Bureau, that has been paying its way easily and rapidly growing in popularity and increasing in importance. The Association was organized in March 1921, and started in operation April 1, recently celebrating its first birthday. W. H. Smith is its manager. Up until November 30, 1921, the date of the last report of County Agent Ford S. Prince, 575 men had shipped through the organization, 14,114 hogs, 41 cattle, 1,024 sheep, 164 calves for a total valuation of $231,008.66.

The organization of boys' and girls' clubs in the county, has shown rapid increase since this movement was started. During the last year the boys and girls work, which started with 20 members, increased to 177, in pig, poultry, food and stock judging clubs. The institution of a boys and girls club work department of the annual County Fair, with prizes offered in this department, has served to stimulate work in this division of the Farm Bureau activities. Home Economics has also been introduced through the efforts of the Farm Bureau, with the making of dress forms and the hot school lunch, features of this work.

It is estimated by Farm Bureau enthusiasts that the improvement of soil by proper treatment, campaigns against crop disease and insect pests and the advice regarding the proper kinds of grain and time of sowing, as offered by the Farm Bureau through County Agent Prince through his term here, has saved and earned thousands of dollars to Greene County farmers.

Soil showing a high acid test has been treated with lime with very good results, the lime easily obtainable in this county, and serving to counteract the soil acids in order to greater increase production. The use of acid phosphate in other cases of land with a tendency to barrenness has brought out just as good results.

The control of insect pests and crop diseases, has been a long and hard fight. County Agent Prince first took up the elimination of the barberry bushes as a breeder of crop-attacking insects and has practically eradicated this danger. The control of wheat and oats smut has been carried out with great success, while hog cholera campaigns have been fraught with results in the elimination of this terror. Potato crops have been increased by proper spraying methods as proven by comparisons of sprayed and unsprayed crops. A sprayed plot, it is shown, yielded 226 bushels per acre in comparison to 197 bushels per acre developed when the plants were not sprayed.

The distribution of better wheat varieties in the county on recommendation of County Agent Ford S. Prince has resulted in almost universal use of the Gladden, Trumbull and Portage varieties, with subsequent increased yields. Seed corn tests have also proven invaluable in the selection of good-yielding varieties with at attendant successful results. Orchard pruning and surveying has also been carried out successfully.

SEE CHANCE FOR FAIR APPLE CROP IN OHIO THIS YEAR

There is possibility of nearly a normal apple crop in Ohio, despite the recent severe frost, and no fruit trees are beyond help as to spraying.

Horticulturists of the Ohio State University, having received reports from all parts of the State, made this report today. "While severe frost damage to Ohio's fruit crop has been by no means complete, and it is essential that there be no let-up in the usual spraying practice," says F. H. Beach, who issues the statement.

"Failure to complete the after-blossom spray will mean a total loss of whatever prospect remains, while application of this spray will make the most of present crop prospects and preserve the health of the trees for another year," he continues.

"Apple orchards have suffered less than the others, and present indications are for a commercial crop of nearly normal size, with the best prospects in the extreme northern and southern parts of the State. Damage to summer apples has been heavier than to the late varieties. Peach and sour cherry blossoms have been damaged about 50 percent in southern Ohio and have been practically all killed in central Ohio, but in northern Ohio a fine prospect still remains. Pear and plum prospects are practically the same.

"Sweet cherries are virtually a total loss over the entire State." Professor Beach adds that farmers who quit spraying after the freeze last year found this neglect unprofitable. "Their trees became diseased-ridden, and the fruit buds this year were relatively light."

OVER FOUR HUNDRED TRY FOR SCHOLARSHIP

SWINE EXHIBITORS WILL BE AWARDED OVER FIVE MILLIONS

Indianapolis, Ind., May 6.—More than $5,000,000 in cash will be awarded swine exhibitors this year at the state and county fairs in the United States. To this sum may be added an equal amount offered to boys' and girls' pig clubs which are being conducted in almost every county in the country. This estimate was made by Fred L. Obenchain, Secretary of the Spotted Poland China Record, following a conference with Secretaries of all the large recording associations in America.

"The prize awards are larger this year than ever in the history of the country and as a result, nearly every county and state fair in America will have the largest number of entries in the swine show ever in the history of the country," said Mr. Obenchain. "Some of the larger breed associations are putting up as much as $150,000 which is met in every instance by a similar sum by the fair associations. All the minor breeds have appropriated more money than ever in their history to be contested for by swine breeders. The sum will amount to more than $5,000,000.

From the winners at these fairs will be selected the best of each breed for exhibition at the National Swine show this fall where record prizes are offered in each breed. The Spotted Poland China breeders of this country will have almost three times as many entries at county and state fairs as in former years and from reports of other breeds their numbers will be greatly increased.

MAY CRUCIAL MONTH FOR GARDEN PRODUCE

Planting Table for May: beans, beets, carrots, celery, corn, cucumbers, eggplant, lettuce, melons, onion seed and sets, parsley, parsnips, peas, peppers, and tomatoes.

This is the time of the year when many gardeners weaken. A good deal of ground seed and labor go to waste annually because many who get the gardening fever in spring lose interest when hot weather comes along.

MARKET FOR FRUIT AND VEGETABLES ON UPWARD TREND

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
Shipment for the United States for the period of April 23rd to 29th inclusive and prices to jobbers April 25th to May 1st, inclusive.
PRICES TEND UPWARD.

The produce movement continued heavy during the last week of April. Shipment of dozen leading fruits and vegetables approached ten thousand and carloads. Demand seems fairly active and prices have recovered considerably. There was a sharp trend upward for potatoes, onions, cabbage and tomatoes, and nearly all lines showed firm time.

POTATOES HIGHER.
Demand for potatoes continued active, especially in the Atlantic and the Middletown regions, and prices tended generally upward with sharp advances in the middle west. Chicago carlot markets gained 40c per 100 lbs, and north central shipping points advanced about the same amount. Maine shipping points quoted green mountains about 35c higher with active, excited markets. Potato shipments continued heavy. Maine sent forward 1120 cars which was fully one third the entire movement of old potatoes. There were 869 cars of new potatoes and a total of 3854 3854 compared with 2900 with the corresponding week last season. Florida potatoes gained 50c reaching $6-$7 per barrel in Northern markets and $5.50 g. o. b. shipping points. A few Texas bliss triumphs were selling at about the same price as Florida stock but Texas shipments have been very light this season while the Florida movement has exceeded that of last season to same date by fully 1,000 cars.

ONION PRICES RECOVER.
Texas yellow onions strengthened 25c-50c and ranged at the close $2.25-$2.75 in consuming markets. Shipping point quotations recovered to about the same extent. The movement from Texas continued heavy, but fell off sharply from the great volume of the preceding week. The Texas crop will be all shipped out earlier than usual. Other sections are beginning. California shipped 27 cars compared with six last week. Texas shipped 662 compared with 1,063 last and 664 a year ago.

CABBAGE MARKET GAIN.
The cabbage movement exceeds 1,000 cars; more than half of them from South Carolina. Demand continued moderately active and markets were strong. South Carolina, Louisiana and Mississippi Wakefields made irregular gains of $1-$2 per 100 lbs. crate in various markets, closing mostly $3.50-$4. Alabama flat type cabbage ranged $3-$3.50 in western markets. Arrivals were 93 cars in New York and 102 in Chicago but moderate elsewhere.

STRAWBERRY MARKETS.
Prices of strawberries average at about 5c per quart higher this week in consuming markets, ranging at the close 25c-35c for choice North Carolina fruit. This stock was quoted as high as $3 for 32 quart crate f. o. b. shipping points but closed lower. The North Carolina shipping season apparently reached its height during the week. Southwestern stock is becoming more prominent in the market. Arkansas and Tennessee berries range $5-$7 per 24 quart crate in middlewestern cities. The Florida season is practically over but shipments are beginning from the Norfolk Virginia district.

APPLES STEADY TO FIRM.
Apple markets continued dull and narrow, general jobbing range of New York, Baldwins A2 1-2 strengthened to $8-$8.50 per barrel with a few gains of 25c-50c. Shipments are nearly all from New York State. Northwestern extra fancy boxed winesaps strengthened to a general jobbing range of $3-$3.35 but were quoted $3.25-$4.25 in New York.

SWEET POTATOES.
The markets continued dull and irregular with no definite price trend. Northern type stock ranged $1.50-$2 per bushel hamper in Eastern markets and held at $2.35 in Chicago. Tennessee Nancy Halls gained 20c in Cincinnati and Cleveland but declined to about the same extent in Kansas City and closed at a general jobbing range of 90c-$1.25. Georgia Porto Ricans ranged $1.15 in Baltimore and Pittsburgh.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.
Florida tomatoes advanced about $1.25 per six basket carrier New York City closing $4.50-$4.75. Tomato shipments from Florida have been more than double last seasons move-

GIVES POINTERS FOR OBTAINING OF GOOD CREAM BY FARMERS

County Agent Ford S. Prince has submitted for the benefit of the farmers of the county, and for the men who are interested in the local rear stations being established over the vicinity, the following pointers for the securing of good cream.

The following suggestions are made by Mr. Prince concerning the care of cream:

1. Use a reasonable amount of care in producing the milk in as clean a way as possible.
2. Prevent all possible dirt or dust from falling into the milk pail.
3. To prevent milk from absorbing stable odors which it does very readily when warm, remove it from the stable as soon as it is milked.
4. Milk should be separated as soon after milking as possible, first from sanitary reasons and second for the reason that the body temperature at which milk leaves the cow is the best temperature for proper separating in order to get all of the butter fat.
5. Cream should be cooled by any available method as soon as possible, if no more thorough method can be provided, cream can be set immediately in a tub of cold water.
6. Warm fresh cream should "Never" be run directly into a can of older cream. This is sure to cause poor quality. Always cool each batch of cream as it comes from the separator before putting into the regular cream can.
7. A metallic stirring device to be left in the cream can used once or twice daily, stirring the cream quite thoroughly is a big help in producing a good smooth quality of cream. Never cover the can tightly until you are ready to take it to market. A screen or cloth tied over the mouth of can is a good method of doing this.

GIRL CONFINED IN SHED SIX YEARS IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Bucyrus, O., May 6.—Irene Menges, 20, rescued Friday from enforced imprisonment, on her father's farm, believed to have lasted for six years, sat on a cot in the residence part of the county jail today. Her hair was matted and with dull eyes she sat, staring listlessly out of the window. Her feet are deformed and her nails torn. Her legs also are badly scarred. Beyond an occasional "oh, dear," she refuses to talk.

When breakfast was served, she ate more like a wild beast than a human being. Mrs. E. J. Knappenbarger, wife of the sheriff, says that the girl has caused her no trouble, seeming indifferent to all that goes on around her.

When brought to jail she was very dirty, there being an accumulation of dirt on face and limbs. She slept soundly throughout the night. The girl is a brunette and was at one time very pretty, traces of beauty being still apparent.

Dr. Russell J. Canton, county coroner, and Dr. C. A. Ulmer, made a physical examination of the girl today and stated this afternoon that they believed she would soon become a mother.

The father is being held here for investigation today, following the rescue by Sheriff Edward J. Knappenbarger and Marshall Charles Crawford of Crestline, of Irene Menges, 20, his daughter, from an iron-shed shed on her father's farm near Crestline, where she is said to have been imprisoned for six years. The shed was heated by nothing but a lantern. The girl was arrayed only in a short gauze vest.

The family states that she has been under restriction for the past two years.

The senators also informed the president that it would be impossible to enact a sales tax to pay the bonus at the present session of congress at the end of the conference. GASOLINE RAIL CARS TO SAVE RAILROADS MONEY; LATEST TYPE IS SHOWN AT RAILWAY CONVENTIONS

Railroad association held recently in Washington, D. C. It is the second gasoline rail car to be placed in service by the New Jersey road.

The car was driven under its own power over the Pennsylvania to Washington and with various railway officials as passengers, made daily runs during the convention over the tracks of the Washington & Old Dominion Railway from Washington to Great Falls and Bluemont, Va.

The car has a seating capacity of 42 and a baggage compartment directly in the rear of the driver who controls the car from the right-hand side. The body which is of semi-steel construction is mounted on a new rail car chassis, built by The White Company, truck manufacturers, Cleveland, Ohio. There is a four-wheel pivotal truck in front and two wheels in rear. It is governed to a speed of 33 miles per hour.

Railroad officials have become much interested of late in the gasoline-propelled type of railway cars. A number of short line railroads have been operating passenger cars of this type successfully for several years, but it is only recently that the gasoline rail coach has come to attract wide attention on the part of railroad men, not only operators of short line railways but officials of the country's largest transportation systems. The rail cars makes its greatest appeal as the result of its simplicity and operating economy.

The latest and most improved type of gasoline rail is shown in the accompanying illustration. The car, which is owned by the Union Transportation Company, of New Egypt, N. J., was the feature exhibit at the convention of the American Shortline

ELEANOR GRACE

SAYS

"Magic mit" is a good name for the metallic dish-cloth that are made especially for cleaning pots and pans in which something has "stuck." It acts like magic on a rough surface. I would hate to wash dishes without one handy. They cost only 10c each at the notions counter.

Dainty and pretty for mi-lady's use are the new gold filled pencils, made on the ever-sharp order, that are to be found at the jewelry counter. Small enough to drop into a purse or vanity case they will be found wonderfully handy. Priced 50c each.

Absolutely the prettiest things we have yet seen in the way of wash edgings have just come to our notions counter. They are in the form of little loops on a straight edge and come in tiny check gingham in all colors and in plain lawns in a variety of the new shades. It comes at 15c a yard and makes most effective trimmings. Its trade name is ruching.

Vanity cases with the handles on the end so they are carried opened instead of sideways, are attractive novelties that will appeal particularly to young girls. They have a pocket book inside and thus answer a double purpose. Nice for gifts. Priced $3.00.

Tape lines in pretty little pink and blue cases add to the daintiness of the work basket. They cost 25c. Tape lines in nickel cases come at only 20c. Metal tapes that do not break or fade are wanted by women who sew a lot. They come in nickel cases at 50c each.

CHRISTIAN CONGRESS OPENS IN SHANGHAI.

More than 1000 foreign and Chinese Christians, representing every province and every Protestant denomination and organization, met in Shanghai Tuesday in the National Christian Conference.

The fundamental purpose of the conference is to encourage, in so far as is possible, the development of Chinese leadership and the formation of a National Christian Council. The Rt. Rev. Frederick R. Graves, Episcopal Bishop, presided, and representatives of the Chinese Government and Chinese public organizations welcomed the delegates. Bishop Graves said this was the first time in 115 years that Chinese delegates and ministers had met delegates from missionary bodies to consider the future of Christian work in China.

Mr. Cunningham, American Consul General, in welcoming the delegates on behalf of all Shanghai foreigners, said it was gratifying to see the Chinese were ready to assume responsibility for the work of expanding Christianity.

The conference is regarded as of the greatest importance, because it marks the birth of a Christian Church in which sectarianism is submerged. Thus far there has been no appearance of an anti-Christian movement in Shanghai.

A MINISTER'S MORAL COURAGE STIRS UP A HORNET'S NEST IN THE EAST.

Wealthy and socially prominent citizens of New York and Brooklyn who are members of the Brooklyn Riding and Driving Club's exclusive "Friday night class" were annoyed when they learned that the Rev. James E. Crowther, pastor of the Arch Street Methodist Episcopal Church of Philadelphia, had made public his reasons for walking out in the middle of the club's banquet without delivering the address which he had come to make.

At first members of the Banquet Committee and officials of the club were inclined to take the charges of the clergyman without much show of interest, but they were aroused when told that he had called the dinner a modern "feast of Belshazzar." The suggestion that some of the members became boisterous brought hot denials from the officials, all of whom insist that the club consists of gentlemen only.

If more people who respect the law and realize the seriousness of the present widespread disposition to regard the Prohibition Amendment and the Volstead Enforcement Act as a joke were moved to make the same sort of protest as that made in Brooklyn the other evening by the Rev. Dr. Crowther, of Philadelphia, the country would be the better for it and there might be hope of an early return to sanity and reason.

Although only one of a large company of men, among them Judges and lawyers, sworn to uphold the Constitution of their country and to defend its law against violation, to resent open defiance of both constitutional and legal prohibition, Dr. Crowther's refusal to countenance that defiance by further participation in the offense, should have an influence far beyond the clubhouse where it was committed or the community in which the club is situated. To most people in the habit of attending public dinners it is no novelty to see liquor upon the tables and openly served to the guests; but it is a novelty to find some one with the moral courage to refuse to be a party to what he knows to be a wrong.

Each individual who countenances the open and flagrant violation of this constitutional prohibition has to answer to his own conscience; but few of the guilty ones pause to consider the demoralizing effect upon the whole Nation of so universal a refusal to take seriously what is in effect an undermining of the whole structure of our governmental system. If disobedience to to one law can be condoned, even by men sworn to uphold the law, what is to prevent a similar refusal by whole sections of the population to obey other laws, the incidence of which may be inconvenient and distasteful? It is this which makes the situation so serious and which gives the simple act of protest by Dr. Crowther a significance and importance far above the ordinary.

THE AFRICAN REPUBLIC.

There is a little hint of demagoguery in the apparent attempt of the House Democrats to block the Fordney resolution for a $5,000,000 loan to Liberia. Their keynote is sounded in the minority report of the Ways and Means Committee, the Republican majority of which has reported favorably on the loan. The Democrats can find nothing better to say than what is thoroughly false; that we are under no obligation to help Liberia and, what is superficially true, that we should not further tax the American people for the benefit of any foreign nation. This is where the demagoguery comes in—in clamorous assertion that thousands of Americans are out of work and that henceforth we should make no foreign loans.

Liberia is a Negro republic, which is why the Democrats are so insistent against foreign loans. They know well enough that we shall make foreign loans to white nations in the future as occasion arises and that if they are in the majority they will vote for them. This is demagoguery. These very men are ready enough to vote for anything that will get them votes. They will get no votes from Negroes.

As for the United States not being "legally or morally bound" to help Liberia when she needs it, that is false to some eighty years of State Department and congressional precedents. We created Liberia with a promise of support, which hitherto we always have kept loyally. We expected the Negro colonists and placed our heavy hand on her coast, with a warning to all other nations to keep off, a warning they always have been obliged to respect. She has not been self-supporting; but we have never reneged on our promises to see that she should be kept going as a return to the Negroes who took our word to that effect. This Democratic proposal is that for the first time in eight or nine decades we should break that word and leave the republic to its fate.

Liberia always has been faithful to us; she declared war on Germany as soon as we did, taking her life in her hands and rendering us some service. Liberia was the product of the attempt to solve the slavery question by colonization, at that time regarded as the only way. She was created by the United States Government at the instance of white men and under a pledge.

MR. HUGHES DOESN'T BELIEVE MUCH IN FAITH WITHOUT WORKS

1902--Twenty Years Ago--1922

E. S. Kelly, the proprietor of "Whitehall" of near Yellow Springs, has issued a very artistic little booklet, showing a picture of his summer home and other views.

Unless the "Buckeye Broom and Brush Company" which has the workhouse contract, comes to terms with regard to complying with some of the stipulations which the Board of Directors has made there will be a clash between the company and the members of the board.

The Xenia paper mill is to be remodeled and again placed in operation. This is good news for the people of Xenia for the old plant which has been idle for so long will give employment to a large number of workmen.

REAL TURKISH BATHS

I always advise those of my readers who can, to take Turkish baths for the good of their health and complexion. A real Turkish bath is a great ceremony—it takes half a day and should take even longer to be really beneficial. I know of nothing that is more restful or delightful than this, for it leaves one fairly glowing with cleanliness and health refreshed, stimulated and ready to drop off to sleep as soon as bedtime comes. The best time to take it is fact, is late afternoon, so that you are home early in the evening, then you will want a nourishing supper and then you should go immediately to bed to enjoy the full benefit of the bath.

You disrobe in a little dressing-room and wrap yourself in a gigantic sheet which is provided, as well as where you lie wrapped in sheets and blankets and perspire from every pore. After a time your attendant takes you to the bathing section, where you are scrubbed with a stiff brush and soap, sometimes massaged, hosed off with hot and cold water and stood under a needle spray which will stimulate the skin until your whole body is glowing. After this if you wish you can swim in the pool and lie down for a nap.

Margerie—If you merely want to reduce the legs and not the entire body, take special exercises for the lower part of the body and massage the legs vigorously every night.

Helen—I never recommend the use of peroxide for bleaching the hair, although I may have replied to some one who was using it for this purpose. The shade of gold which peroxide produces is usually very showy and artificial. For this reason few women use it any more. If your hair is dull you should improve it by bringing more vitality into the hair through an improvement in the general health and especially that of the scalp. Henna allowed to remain on the hair about three minutes during the shampoo, will add a glow to the shade which will not alter the natural color and will not look artificial. A great many women use this now as it is not noticeable and the henna is also a tonic for the scalp.

SPRING REDUCTION MENUS

The following menus are recommended by diet specialists. They will not make you fat, yet they will supply the system all the elements of nourishment that it requires. I am simply giving the menus today that may be used either for lunch or dinner, though I would suggest that these be for the main meal of the day.

I would also suggest that breakfast consist of nothing but an orange, hot black coffee, dry toast and a soft boiled egg, and luncheon or supper of salad, stewed fruit, a little meat and a non-fattening vegetable.

D. J. C.—To reduce the ankles you should either exercise them vigorously or gain the same effect through massaging. You are mistaken about using a cream for this purpose as that would have a tendency to nourish.

Luke—Agar agar is a Japanese seaweed. It is sometimes used with other things and the combination sold under some trade name. You can buy the Agar agar and use it as directed, or try out any of the mixtures that contain it, since they must have a great deal of merit.

Daisy—If you used washing soda to bleach the hair, you would be compelled to make the solution so strong that it would destroy the hair. It would act just as strong soda water does upon clothing—not the textures. A pinch or two of washing soda in the shampoo for a very oily head could be beneficial, but even so a heavy lather from a fine soap will be cleansing without taking any risks.

CHILDREN IN SPRING TIME

Mrs. C. Osborn, 7812 Hillside Rd., Cleveland, O., writes: "My granddaughter was troubled with a cough for nearly two years. She took Foley's Honey and Tar and her cough is now gone. It loosened the phlegm so she could raise it easily." Foley's Honey and Tar is just what children should have for feverish colds, coughs, "snuffles" and tight, wheezy breathing. Be sure to get Foley's. It checks croup and whooping cough, too. Sayre & Hemphill, adv

THE VOLSTEAD LAW.

The well known line I do not draw at Mr. Volstead's famous law. There may be moments when I yearn for drinks that sizzle, smoke and burn, that jolt a man clear to his toes, perfume his breath and tint his nose; but when such longings come to me I quaff a bowl of boneset tea. I can't pour bitters in my craw without upsetting Volstead's law and making Mr. Volstead feel a dark blue fantom in his heel. When serpents come and bite my legs, for something strong my being begs. My soul is sick and faint within; my nerves demand a dish of gin. For I've been taught that gins and ryes that venom dire will neutralize. But still I cry, "Far better croak than make the Volstead law a joke! Though cobras coo and adders add, and bite me 'neath my liver pad, though copperheads and rattlesnakes shall fill me up with deadly aches, no vital statute shall I bust—obeying law's a sacred trust!" I sit beneath my vine and tree and drink nine quarts of boneset tea, and wash it down with wienerwurst, and lo, the venom is dispersed! And while I sit here, blithe and spry, the humbled snakes go off and die. I doubt if alcohol will heal a single ill that mortals feel. And if you'd drink it you must saw a stove length from the Volstead law.

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

RADIO

I now have a radio receiving outfit in my library where I am entertained and inspired after a day or evening of work. I wish—and hope—that the time will come when every home may listen in.

No greater agency for good and happiness has been invented for centuries than these instruments that make it possible for the "shut-in," as well as those who go to the farther most parts of the earth, to enjoy music and instruction.

"It's so marvelous!" Just to think that the sound of a breath is able to travel miles through the air. And a senator in Washington talks to "the folks back home" by way of the radio instrument—and they hear his voice the instant it is delivered to the ether.

We little dream of the many wonderful things yet to be revealed by the search of a man's mind into Nature and her secrets.

But just now I am thinking of an other kind of radio—the sending out of beautiful suggestions and helpful messages by those who are helped by someone, though they have never seen that person.

Today I received a beautifully written letter from one of the readers of these Talks, in which the writer referred me to many delightful writers, many of whom I had not read. No name was signed to the letter but I have appreciated its thoughtfulness and have greatly profited by its suggestions.

I have read that messages sent by radio from the Catalina Islands for Los Angeles have been picked up in Australia!

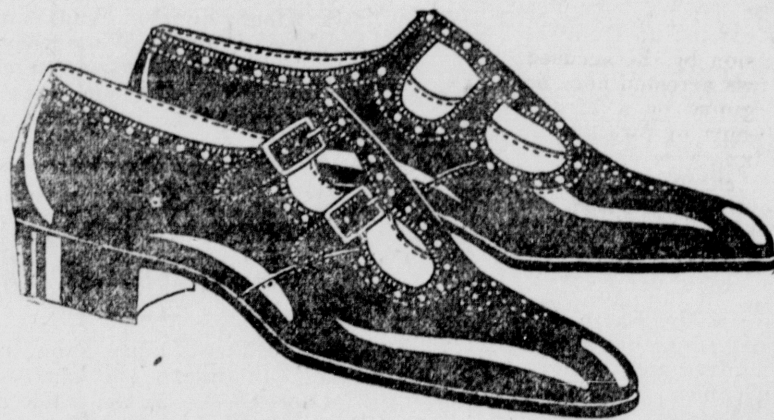

But here we are picking up great thoughts uttered centuries ago and still sending them to all points of the compass.

My correspondent refers me to A. C. Benson's "Father Payne," and so do I refer you to his delightful writings, full of beauty and ease of expression.

It is only as we drink in beauty and learn more about all that there is in life for each of us that we come really to live and take pleasure in work and service.

And with Walt Whitman—"You surely come back at last In things best known to you. Finding the best, or as good as the best."

In folks nearest to you: finding The sweetest, strongest, happiness, knowing, not in another place, But this place—Not for another hour, but this hour."

Maybe you've noticed that it isn't turning the motor over as strong as it might, that it hasn't quite the pep it used to have, that it seems to be just a little "off its feed."

That's a signal that your battery needs the kind of attention we give—and probably needs it right away!

IDENTIFY BODY OF COLORED WOMAN FOUND IN CANAL

Positive identification of the body of a colored woman found in the canal at Miamisburg Thursday, as that of Mrs. Frank Richardson of Springfield, daughter of A. B. Williams, of Springfield, was obtained when the father and husband viewed the body Friday.

The woman had been missing from her home in Springfield for about two weeks, and it is believed the body was in the canal about ten days. A bullet wound in the abdomen indicated the cause of death. Police expect to question a Dayton man who wrote Mrs. Richardson a letter two days before she disappeared asking her for an appointment in Dayton.

Richardson told authorities that when his wife disappeared she said she was coming to Xenia to visit her mother. He later learned that she had not come to this city but did not think much of that as she had left him three times before.

EAGLES NAME CLASS RUSSELL GREINER; INITIATED IN JUNE

The new class of candidates to be initiated by Xenia Aerie, No. 1689, Fraternal Order of Eagles, June 2, will be known as the Russell Greiner Class, it was decided by vote of members Friday night.

The action was taken at the suggestion of Judge Thomas E. O'Donnell of Kansas City, charter member and organizer of the lodge, who addressed 150 members of the local Aerie here Friday night. During the course of his address Judge O'Donnell paid a warm personal tribute to the former Xenian, saying he was one of the biggest hearted and biggest minded men he had ever met.

On the suggestion of the speaker the lodge voted to name the new class of candidates for Mr. Greiner, and it will be known as Russell Greiner's Class, during the initiation exercises June 2.

APPELATE COURT UPHOLDS JUDGMENT IN NICHOLS CASE

A verdict of guilty of forgery found in common pleas court against William N. Nichols, was sustained by the Greene County Court of Appeals in a decision handed down Friday, in the appeal carried up from the lower court's decision by the accused.

Nichols was arrested here by police and found guilty by a jury in common pleas court of forging the name of J. L. Fick, New Burlington pike farmer, to a check which he attempted to pass on George Baldwin at the Central Taxi and Garage. Baldwin became suspicious and called Chief of Police Graham who put Nichols under arrest. He was bound over from police court.

Following the guilty verdict returned in common pleas court Nichols was sentenced to serve one year in the Ohio state penitentiary, where he is now confined. His attorney, Frank H. Dean, appealed the case on the grounds that it was not shown conclusively that the check was false, that it was not shown that the check was uttered or published as true that he intended to defraud was proven and that knowledge was not proven.

The appellate court held that the evidence was sufficient to sustain the verdict and to prove uttering and publishing while intent to defraud, the higher court held, could be inferred from the circumstances. The court found no prejudicial error in the record and held that the judgment of the lower court should be confirmed. Prosecuting Attorney J. K. Williamson prosecuted the action for the State.

Ratone, or grenadine, is one of the attractive materials suitable for sports wear or for the type of simple frock that is so often required for a steamer trip in the summer. It lends itself well, too, to the vogue Friday.

for frayed edge trimming, a new form of self-ornamentation that is employed in some of the smartest sports this season. Sometimes a stripe effect is achieved by drawing some of the threads, and reinforcing the edges with the same or a contrasting color thread.

This mode of trimming has been used on the trim-looking travel frock illustrated. It was shown at one of the exclusive shops in beige, with white vest and collar, also in navy and white, mustard and all white.—June brides please notice!

PLUMBERS

John P. Bocklett, of the Bocklett-King Co., solved the problem of heavy vehicular traffic and how to avoid it Friday morning, when he sailed up on the sidewalk on East Main street with his machine, and dodged pedestrians as an alternative to crashing into another machine.

The novel and entirely original mode of operating outside the traffic zone, was adopted by Mr. Bocklett on the spur of the moment, as a means of avoiding the automobile driven by Harrison Jack who was attempting to pilot his car between the painted auto stalls along the curb.

According to Mr. Bocklett, the other machine was moving west on Main when the driver essayed to park in front of the S. and S. shoe store. In order to avoid striking the car, Mr. Bocklett also turned his machine into an auto stall, and being unable to stop it, coursed up on the sidewalk, turned sharply to the left, and brought his car to a halt in front of the Jobe Bros. department store. In the meantime Mr. Jack's car crashed into a Ford sedan parked along the curb crushing in the rear part.

Efficient Housekeeping BY Laura A. Kirkman

"As eggs are now lower in price," write several of my Reader Friends, "will you please publish, soon, more of those recipes for Springlerle Cookies which you mentioned recently?" I am glad to comply with this request.

"None!" Here is my recipe for Springlerle: 1 pound powdered sugar and 4 eggs beaten together for 15 minutes; then add grated rind of 1 lemon and 1 pound of flour, sifted. Roll on board one-eighth inch thick, cut in squares, lay on a cloth over night (or 12 hours) and in the morning bake in a moderate oven till the color of a soda cracker. If liked, a teaspoon of anise added to the dough makes them very tasty and is generally used by the bakeries. There are forms made of wood that come for these cakes, but I have been unable to buy them."

Mrs. F. H. W.: "Springlerle: Four large eggs, 1 pound flour sifted 3 times, butter size of a walnut, scant 1/2 teaspoon of soda. Beat eggs at least five minutes before adding the sugar gradually. When all is smooth, add melted butter and soda which has been dissolved in a very little water, then add flour (a little at a time) and roll out about one-third inch thick. Press the molds on and cut. Put anise seed in pans before putting in the cookies, so seeds will stick to the bottom. Let stand over night in a cool place and bake in the morning in a moderate oven. The secret of good springlerles is to beat and then beat some more."

Mrs. H.: "Springlerles: 1 pound sugar and 4 eggs beaten together light and thick, add 1 pound of flour with which 1 teaspoon of baking powder has been sifted and roll into little balls; press with a small glass plate or salt cellar. Let stand until morning and bake in a quick oven. Or roll and cut out with any of the cookie cutters, or print with wooden forms."

der has been sifted and roll into little balls; press with a small glass plate or salt cellar. Let stand until morning and bake in a quick oven. Or roll and cut out with any of the cookie cutters, or print with wooden forms."

Mrs. B. G.: Springlerles: Beat 5 eggs and one pound of confectioners sugar one way for an hour (stirring either to right or to left—not both ways.) Then slowly mix in one pound of sifted flour to which you have previously added one-half teaspoon of Hirshalt. Roll out about one-half inch thick and take the wooden forms that come made specially for this kind of cake, or else take flowered glasses or any ornament; stars, flower-forms, et cetera) and press these on the rolled out dough then cut the dough into small squares. Sprinkle anise seed on the small squares or else in the buttered tins in which you intend to bake the little cakes. Let the dough dry for one day and one night in a warm room, then bake in not too hot an oven for about 15 or 20 minutes. These are hard at first after baking but grow softer the longer they are kept if put in wax paper in a tin box tightly covered, they will keep even for a year.

A BRICK AND STUCCO COTTAGE DESIGNED BY CHAS. S. SEDGWICK

Bright and sunny is this six room brick and stucco cottage which is ideally suited for the suburban lot although it could easily be adapted for the city lot as well. Combined with "texture" brick, as this house is to the first story window sill course, with stucco above, the owner would have not only a substantial home but one that is pleasing to the eye as well. Very artistic indeed would this house be with flower boxes and a low cottage roof.

There is an attractive porch entrance into a vestibule off from which is a coat closet. The hall space opens with a wide arch into the living room with passage to kitchen and main stairs and grade entrance. In the living room one finds a fireplace casting its cheerful glow and on one side of the fireplace for which there is a central chimney, are built-in book shelves. Through a wide opening, one passes from this room into the dining room which is made particularly delightful by the bay window.

Upstairs there are two good sized bedrooms, bath room, sleeping porch on which there is a closet, and a large linen closet in the hall.

The first story has the hardwood finish, while the second floor is enameled. Floors are of oak and birch. There is also a full basement with laundry, heating and fuel room. All the rooms are liberal in size, the total size of the house being 28 feet 6 inches square, it being a design that shows a most economical use of space. Exclusive of the plumbing and heating, it is estimated that it would cost between $4,500 and $5,000 to build.

TO HOLD COUNTY MASS MEETING OF LOCAL CHURCH PEOPLE

E. G. Klotz, Field Representative of the Ohio Federation of Churches, was in Xenia Saturday to confer with local ministers and other religious workers regarding church activities. Among other matters he made arrangements for a county mass meeting of church workers of Greene County to be held next fall, Nov. 19, having been fixed as a tentative date and the First Methodist Episcopal Church as the place.

Local arrangements for the meeting will be in charge of the Ministerial Association.

Plans for an autumn meeting of this kind in every Ohio county were approved, Mr. Klotz stated, at a recent conference of state denominational leaders, and by the council of the Ohio Federation of Churches. The denominational leaders are urging their local churches to give full co-operation in the interdenominational gatherings. Matters of general church interest will be discussed by speakers to be sent here for the meeting by the Ohio Federation. These speakers, who will go out in groups of four or five, will be denominational officials and outstanding pastors of the state, who will contribute their services for this purpose and will be paid their expenses only.

With the survey of rural church conditions in Ohio finished the Ohio Federation is now able to give more of its attention to other matters. Mr. Klotz told local ministers. It has recently taken a decided stand in behalf of clean moving pictures and in support of state censorship to protect the public against films detrimental to morals. Active support of legislation to promote public morals active opposition to legislation of a contrary tendency and encouragement of strict law enforcement are other fields in which it is seeking to muster the united strength of the churches of the state. Promotion of evangelistic activities also an important activity of the Federation.

The active, organized co-operation of local churches in all these fields is sought by the Ohio Federation, Mr. Klotz pointed out. It is hoped, he said, to develop a strong local organization in every county, which can bring the united influence of the church people to bear on matters affecting the public welfare and morals.

Cedarville College Notes

Thursday and Friday evenings, some of our number made their way to Xenia to see the Annual Senior Class play of Central High School. Fine reports of the play were brought back. The entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed from the time the curtain arose on the fine fine-looking groups of Seniors, until it fell after the last act. Only to see and hear the leading lady, Miss Margaret Whitehead, was enough to make the trip profitable.

The Community Play was such a great success Thursday night that it was necessary to give it a second time, to accommodate those who could not obtain seats. A short play was given by each of the college students, high school students and some college graduates.

A number of college students enjoyed a steak roast at the Indian Mound Friday evening.

The monthly Literary Society met in the College Chapel on last Monday night when an interesting program was rendered.

The people of Cedarville had the rare pleasure of listening to an interesting address given by Professor Dickason of Wooster, at the Reformed Presbyterian Church Sabbath evening.

The college students were given a helpful address in chapel Monday morning. The theme was that of "Kingdom Builders". The address was given by Prof. Dickason of Wooster College.

Miss Lois Cummings was the week end guest of Miss Margaret Weller of Spring Valley.

Mrs. Elizabeth Corr, 80, well known woman of this vicinity, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas, at Yellow Springs, Saturday morning, at seven o'clock.

The cause of Mrs. Corr's death was the result of a fall she received two weeks ago, when she fractured her hip, her age interfering with her recovery.

Mrs. Corr was born in Clinton County, and had been a resident of this vicinity all of her life with the exception of the time she spent in Chicago. Her one son, Howard D. Corr, of this city, is the only near surviving relative.

FOUR DANCING FEET

BY JANE PHELPS

GERTIE REJOICES OVER FAGIN'S KINDNESS CHAPTER 37

So happy she wanted to sing. Gertie hurried away to dress. Oh, how good Fagin was! How hard she would try to please him. She had learned some new steps, improvised a new dance, she would do it that night, surprise him with it.

Now they could keep the flat. Now she could have a new dress and hat, and perhaps a cage before Tom came. Now Ma need never know how near she came to losing her job. She never had kept anything from Ma, but surely it was better to say nothing of what had happened. It would upset her, make her feel insecure in their new home.

Never had Gertie danced as she danced that night! Never had Fagin been so pleased with himself. "I would have been a big Irish fool if I had let her go," he muttered as he watched, "she couldn't help the row! Funny little kid thanking me because I said she was good. Funny little kid, not much like the rest of them—thanking me—um!"

Aside from the dances she did with the others, a man and half a dozen girls, Gertie always did one solo dance, in the middle of the "Revue" as Fagin termed his entertainment.

Tonight she tried her new dance. It was a hit at once, and Fagin beamed upon her as hands clapped, and voices recalled her to repeat her performance. When she had finished and before she came on again with the "Revue," he sought her out saying:

"That's a dandy dance! But you need to be dressed different for it. Get yourself a dress, white stuff of some kind, and have the skirt made full. Get white slippers and stockings too. I'll stand the gaff. If it is more than this let me know." He handed her $30. Scarcely believing her eyes, Gertie took the money, assuring it was enough.

"It will go much better if I change," she said quietly, "I knew it needed a different dress but I couldn't afford it. I can do it much better in full skirts." In the "Revue" the girls wore short, very scanty costumes, and Gertie had done her own particular turn in the same dress.

"Have it right, even if it costs more," Fagin said as he turned away, saying to himself: "Maybe it's a good thing that row happened. She's mighty grateful because I didn't make a fuss—he never dreamed she thought he would discharge her—and she'll stay with me, think twice before she throws me over even if she gets the chance. Nice, little kid—thankin' me for calling her 'good' queer kid!"

Gertie had seen George Murphy and nodded to him. But when he motioned her to come over to his table when she had finished dancing, she shook her head decidedly. He smiled coaxingly, but she refused and as soon as she had finished for the night rushed out so quickly he missed her, and hurried home.

"Oh, Ma! I'm so excited! Wait until I get my things off I'll tell you. You know that new dance I've been practicing? Well, I did it tonight and Fagin was so pleased he gave me $30 to buy a dress and shoes and stockings—white—a full skirt, so I can whirl in the dance! Isn't it wonderful?"

Instead of bad news she had brought good news to her mother. "Indeed, it is, dearie!" Pride showing in every line of the mother's face, "Indeed it is! Now drink your tea! Your eyes are shinin' like stars, and your cheeks is that red. Sure you ain't sick with all this and you lookin' so peaked when you went. I've been most sick myself just thinking how you looked, and worryin'."

"You mustn't worry about me, Ma! I'll be all right. My but this tea tastes good." "Drink it all, honey, and eat the els, Sayre & Hemphill."

bread and butter. You'll sleep better for it. A drop of tea is the right thing to set anybody up I say."

"Who'll I get to make the dress, Ma? Fagin wants me to have it right away."

"Who'll you get! I like that—who but me, of course. You tell me how and I'll make it."

"I wonder if you could! I tell you what we'll do, Ma. I'll get up early, and we'll go way up on Fifth avenue, and look in the windows. Then if we see something we like, we'll get a paper pattern and you can make it—but I'll find out how much other people charge, and give you the money. Fagin expected me to get it made—and he's willing to pay for it. Said if the $30 wasn't enough I could have more."

"Tom will see you in it too if he comes," Mrs. Cummings said, not realizing she had put into words Gertie's thought.
